DEMOCRATIC MEETING

JEFFERSON GOUNTY!

AT JEFFERSONTOWN, KY., ON SATURDAY, DEC. 4TH!

There will be a meeting of the Democracy of Jefferson County at Jeffersontown, Ky., on Saturday, Dec. 4th. The object of this neeting is to appoint delegates to the Convention at Frankfort on the 8th of January. A full attendance is requested.

The organ of the administration is very exultant over the happy position the editor oc cupies. The administration is sustained by county meetings; and, of course, he is eustained. We don't see why he should be more jubilant than usual. He is the organ of the administration; it belongs to him, and he belongs to it. This happy relation has subsisted all along, and it is nothing new.

Although it is no pleasure to us to condemian administration we have helped to place in power, and in that to differ with many we have heretofore acted with, we greatly prefer our our town by this evening's mail, as we have position to his. We don't see any occasion for the farmers, whose orchards have borne well, his congratulation of his party under his engineering, and that of his administration. BT SCEIPTOR. 'Twas not within the festive hall, Where Pleasure reigns supreme-Where Life's gay mockeries prevail And costly rubies gleam; Nor yet within the crowded mart,

I first beheld thy beanteons face, And viewed thy matchless form. But 'twas within that sacred place-God's holy temple-where

Where Fashion's vot'ries swarm,

Thy pure and sinless heart went forth In earnest, suppliant prayer. And as with humble heart thou knelt At God's eternal shrine,

My soul obeyed Love's strong behest,

And bowed, fair one, at thins.

But when I heard thy silvery voice In tremulous accents rise, And gazed into the azure depths Of thy conl-speaking eyes, I thought thou wert a scraph bright,

Descended from above, To guide man's erring steps aright, And teach the soul to love. Since then, thine image e'er has been

And nought, save Beath's relentless hand, Can rend the twain apart.

And e'en not this; for Earth's last thought

Shall unto thee be given, And thou shall be the beacon light To guide my soul to lleuveul SIMPSONVILLE, KY., Nov. 10, 1858.

In England, Germany, and in the Kaetern States of this country, this kind of Mannre has been used for many years with the greatest success. The lesst way to use it is to strew from 4 to 500 peunds per acre in the fall, and plow as deep as practicable; for Trees, it is very profitable to me two pounds in the lestens of each ole; for Corn and Tobacco, put a handfall in seal hill; for Potatoca, Celery, ac., strew thinly in this Menure is in the handleg of it—the farmer beling with this Menure is in the handleg of it—the farmer beling eabled to take at one load, in a two-borse wagon, the equivalent of twenty to twenty-five loads of horse or common stable Hanure.
